ARIES or Aries Rising

You will never escape being different, very different, so you may as well make peace with this situation and use it to your advantage. Forget what you think are the judgments of others. They don't actually care that much. Any discomfort you may feel when engaging with people is but a veil thrown over your confidence. There's always that little edge of uncertainty that even a true badass rides along until they are propelled by some mysterious force into a deep connection to their creative power — and then nothing else matters, except what you do with your gift.

TAURUS or Taurus rising

Most people live silently in an unfriendly world where they feel injured and often, betrayed. Therefore, any expression of sincerity or forgiveness is worth more than a blessing from the angels. You are doing better than most of the people around you. You have much to offer, and regularly encounter those who need your support. The question is not what's in it for you. The question is what do you feel called to do for them? You have an important role in your community, which includes being seen as an example by many other people. Your actions go a long way.

GEMINI or Gemini rising

The ultimate freedom is to be your own authority. Then nobody and nothing else can ever fill that role. But there is a subtle point here. To disavow external authority is freedom from. To take up your own power of choice and internal authority is freedom to. There is a vast difference between them. Many try to shuck off the trappings of power that others would hold over them. Yet that part of the process comes naturally to those who tap into their inner authority. This is not usually done all in one piece, or at one time. There are many small facets to the transformation, the most important of which is recognizing your priorities and connecting them to the choices that you make.

CANCER or Cancer rising

If you are being summoned to a higher calling, you can be sure that not so many others are hearing the same invitation. You may be the only one. And of those who may hear it, few will respond — potentially, only you. So you must assume that when you are tapped for a mission, you are the one who is being called to respond. It's something calling for you to take on responsibility, potentially longterm. You may not feel ready. You may not feel qualified. It may not be your thing, as you previously defined it. Yet you are still being offered the possibility of service and active involvement in an aspect of life where you can play a meaningful and potentially integral role — and grow significantly in the process.

LEO or Leo rising

Yours is often described as a self-centered sign. Yet that misses the extent to which you hold things together and serve as a point of common ground. You're often a central organizing principle in your environment. And you almost always rise to the occasion. You know that offering yourself in service is an essential nutrient for you and those around you. Everyone benefits. The question today is whether and how you take care of yourself. Most of that is about attending to your emotional health, and being a more generous with free time and your preferred activities. Emotional balance is the goal, and mostly involves honoring your inner life. Spend time with the you nobody knows, and don't say much about it to anyone else.

VIRGO or Virgo rising

People have lived in fear most of the past three years, nearly all of it involving their health. To the extent that you've done this, it's necessary that you stop and take a different approach. Relentless external pressure to feel anxiety is a cause of much pain and sickness. You must meet the world on your terms rather than responding to the demand that you respond on its terms. This whole issue often goes unnamed and unnoticed, and it can be a real confrontation — though it's worth it. The reward is that you get to be your own person and stand up for your own choices. Sadly, few will ever know this pleasure or this freedom — but you can.

LIBRA or Libra rising

Your commitment to excellence is something you take with you everywhere — assuming you have developed it. It's never too late to master your skill and talents. Times of chaos like the ones we are living through call for impeccability rather than for compromise. This remains true even in a world where existence is running like a watercolor in the rain. No external standard will work for you. Your references must be internal, which means holding yourself to high standards. Nobody else can do this for you. You may get an occasional reflection of your state of mind and situations that seem to teach you a lesson, yet you must be far more scrupulous than that.

SCORPIO or Scorpio rising

There are people who are doing what they can to protect you and ease your way. When you see that someone cares about you, and is willing to take care of you, use that to their benefit as much as you do your own. Make it worth their effort and generosity. It's easy to take for granted that people might offer their support or encouragement, whether emotional or material. Participate in their positive efforts, and recognize them for what they are. No other person is going to be "exactly right" for you, but there is at least one individual who is doing their very best to help you stabilize your life. Express your gratitude and return the favor.

SAGITTARIUS or Sagittarius rising

This time of year, you often seem to be invested in the emotions of others, and it takes work. Yet what you're being called to do is something genuinely relevant in all relationships: working out how to balance priorities and make decisions in a relationship where there are just two people. All kinds of power-sharing arrangements are involved. There is no majority in a group of two; there is either agreement, discord, or overpowering the other. Here is a one-sentence key to consensus: Agree first on the underlying values, then make your shared decisions based on them. Then at least you have an objective basis to make decisions together, and if you do not, you will find out what any disagreement may be about.

CAPRICORN or Capricorn rising

Your time is worth more than your money. This goes against most examples the world sets, which teach us to waste lots and lots of time — often at a financial expense as well. With any evaluation you make about how to handle yourself, conduct your analysis on the basis of cost and time invested. When economizing, eliminate time-wasters as eagerly as you eliminate what needlessly burns cash. As you economize, you will multiply your efficiency, which is a concept we need to develop and understand. Capitalism intentionally thrives on waste. We are therefore all taught to be wasteful. After the experimental phase of anything, you will thrive on balancing effort with results.

AQUARIUS or Aquarius rising

You want to live in a world where you do your part. You want the companionship and cooperation of other people. You want to hang out places where you feel welcome, and in fact are welcome. Most of all, you want to be needed. And it's up to you to make these things happen, or to find your way to them, or to be available for them. Having these precious social gifts is a choice you make every day. And about doing your part: the mentality of our ongoing robotic programming is that everything should be done for you; all you have to do is swipe left of swipe right. You want a life, not that BS.

PISCES or Pisces rising

The mighty Saturn is in your sign right now, which is only true for about two years in every 29. While many astrologers take a negative view of Saturn, this is the transit that's going to help you focus your affairs and come to terms with yourself. In our world today, it's a blessing. Saturn insists on one thing above all: that you conduct yourself like an adult. That's not popular when nearly anyone can just tap on their phone and your exact pizza shows up at the door. The message of Saturn is take up the necessities of life, work a little harder for what you want — and get a result you can be proud of.
